

CONSULATE GENERAL OF INDIA
SAN FRANCISCO
MONTHLY COMMERCIAL REPORT February 2018

TRADE NEW HIGHLIGHTS – February 2018

1. India calls for changes in WTO to transform world economy

India called for bringing changes in Geneva-based World Trade Organisation (WTO) to transform the global economy. Commerce and Industry Minister Suresh Prabhu said that the global trade has benefitted all the nations in terms of creation of jobs and promoting economic activities. "Now the question is whether we should make WTO better or forget it. Organizations need reformation all the time and it needs to be changed with change in times," he said here at the CII's Partnership Summit.

2. USIBC forms India Advisory Council to enhance bilateral ties - A top American business advocacy group has announced the formation of an India Advisory Council to enhance bilateral strategic and economic partnership.

India Advisory Council of the US India Business Council is a group of India-based leaders of American and Indian companies that "play an important role in helping create that strategic lens to the economic partnership," USIBC president Nisha Desai Biswal told .

3. Andhra Pradesh IT Minister Lokesh Nara Attends Roundtable in Seattle to Woo Investors

Andhra Pradesh IT Minister Lokesh Nara led a high-level delegation to a roundtable event in Seattle, Wash., to pitch investors about the quality of the state in India. The Minister, at the event put together by the Washington State India Trade Relations Action Committee, focused his discussion on the IT, infrastructure development, renewable resources, ports and manufacturing sectors. "Our state is naturally endowed with a coastline of 974 km, the second longest in the country, and strategically located with six major ports to enable it to become a natural gateway to the Eastern hemisphere with respect to the trade with East, South East Asia and even to the United States through the Pacific," he said at the roundtable.

4. India's First Vegan Magazine Goes Global

Starting this weekend, VegPlanet will not just be available online or at a vegan café in Kolkata, but also at bookstores or health food markets across the U.S. and Canada including at Whole Foods Markets and Barnes & Noble bookstores, it said in a news release. Rising in popularity among India's growing vegan community and with over 100,000 people following them now on Facebook, VegPlanet has just passed its next milestone by being picked up by one of the leading magazine distribution companies in North America, it said. "When we heard the news, we were ecstatic, our vegan community based magazine going global – awesome," said Niranjana Amarnath, editor of VegPlanet Magazine. "VegPlanet's intentions have always been to be a community-based magazine – not just the community in our backyard, but also our common community around the world.
